AURORA

The BioEnergy mattress was designed with the aim of combining the performance of highly technological products with materials of natural origin. Its Memory Resource of vegetal origin and its Hemp Modal and Linen fabric on the support surface allow the user to be in contact with natural products. The Carbon contained in the central layer also offers a shielding action from the radiation of electronic instruments, now always present in bedrooms. BioEnergy is a mattress with a firm comfort, able to reduce pressure points and provide a rest free from awakenings and aches. It is an excellent partner for people with a robust build or for those who like a very firm comfort. It has great support capabilities but also manages to accommodate the points of greatest pressure thanks to its progressive structure.

MATERIALS:

The BioEnergy mattress cover is made of Hemp, Modal and Linen. Three natural materials that offer a high degree of freshness and breathability, in addition to the benefits of resting on natural products, they also stimulate the release of Melatonin helping to promote sleep.
